HISTORICAL LOCATIONS

The Hacienda Hotel - 1927

5621 Main Street

Completed in 1927, this 55-room Spanish-style luxury hotel was designed to attract the movie industry to Florida.

Richey Suncoast Theatre - 1926

6237 Grand Boulevard

Built from block trim for the Richey Amusement Company at a cost of some $50,000, this building was originally known as the Meighan Theatre when built in 1925 by investors, including hollywood royalty and silent screen star Thomas Meighan.

West Pasco Historical Society

Museum & Library - 1916

6431 Circle Boulevard

This building was originally a two-room schoolhouse in Seven Springs operating from 1916-1922. It is a one-story structure approximately 30 by 50 feet.

Clark Building - 1922

6307 Grand Boulevard

Built in 1922 by James W. Clark, Jr., the first chief and two-time mayor of New Port Richey. Early tenants of the Clark Building were Cofee Hardware, Moran Feed Store and the New Port Richey Press.

First State Bank Building - 1921

6231 Grand Boulevard

The First State Bank was organized and openend in 1921 with assets of $22,500. The bank suspended operation in 1931, leaving New Port Richey without a bank until 1952.

Peace Hall (Formerly Our Lady Queen of Peace Church) - 1919

6431 Circle Boulevard

Beginning in 1913, Father Felix Ulrich had been traveling from St. Leo Abbey to New Port Richey to offer Mass once a week for the seven Catholic families living here. The church was dedicated on March 19, 1919 and became New Port Richey's first Catholic church. The church was moved from it's original location in 2001, adjacent to Sims Park next to the Historical Society.

Pierce Elementary School - 1926

City Hall & New Port Richey Library

5919 Main Street

Once the city's only elementary school, the facility was named for Porter Lamar Pierce, who came to Elfers, a nearby town, in 1913 and later became a member of the Pasco County School Board.

Pasco Building - 1921

Old Pasco Hardware

6236 Grand Boulevard

Constructed in 1921 of Spanish-style masonry, this building is distinctive for its multi-sided copper topped cupola above the northeast corner. During the 1950's, the cupola was equipped with a speaker and amplifier to broadcast Christmas Carols.

Sims Land Office

Milbauer Building - 1919

5728 Main Street

Erected in 1919, this was the first brick building in New Port Richey. It once served as the town's land office, owned and operated by George R. Sims.

Sims Building - 1922

5732 Main Street

Named after land developer George R. Sims, this building has been used for office space over the years.

Arcade Building - 1927

5805 Main Street

Constructed in 1927, this building features a charming courtyard and fountain, and was home of the Post Office for 32 years until it moved into it's own building in 1958.

Chasco Inn - 1926

5743 Main Street

Constructed in 1926, the Chasco Inn originally housed a hotel, restaurant, bus station and camera shop.

Sims Park - 1916

Bank Street & Circle Boulevard

Originally called Enchantment Park, it was renamed December 6, 1924, to honor George R. Sims, an early developer of New Port Richey and donor of the park and club house.

Old Gulf High School Building - 1922

5520 Grand Boulevard

The Harry Schwettman Education Center currently occupies this building which was the original site of Gulf High School. Gulf High School moved to its current location at Madison and School Rd., and until 1973, was the only high school in western Pasco County.

Clemmie Butler Home - circa 1940

5327 Grand Boulevard

This two-story residence was built of native rock hauled from the nearby Pithlachascotee River bottom and fitted together with mortar.

Finnish-American Club - circa 1949

6016 Delaware Avenue at Madison Street

Established in the fall of 1949, this organization received it's charter from the State of Florida in 1950. Five lots were purchased at the east corner of Madison Street and Delaware Avenue, where the clubhouse was built by volunteer labor.

Bowman Building - Early 1920's

6216 Grand Boulevard

Built in the 1920's, the building's second floor halls were constructed as a Masonic Temple with a circular dome and ventilators.

Orange Lake

Circle Boulevard

Girded by Circle Boulevard in the heart of Downtown, this lake was a source of livelihood and concern to early settlers. Back in the 1800's it was called the "Blue Sink" and was nestled in a jungle of hickory hammock. Orange Lake is now a picturesque setting for relaxation and contemplation as one strolls The Veteran's Walk around the lake.
